

Salem Academy Department of English Outside Reading Requirements

1. During the summer holiday, all students and faculty will read The House on Mango Street by Sandra Cisneros. Students will also read one book for their particular grade level/course. Additionally, during winter break and Jan Term, all students will read one additional book, which may be assigned. Assigned books are required reading.
2. Students may read only the book(s) listed for their particular grade level/course. They may not substitute other books, nor may they report on books from the list for another grade level. The only exception is if a student changes their schedule during the drop/add period at the start of fall semester and moves out of an Honors or AP English course.
3. All texts must be read in the English language.
4. Students must have finished reading their outside reading book(s) by the start of each semester.
5. Students should bring their summer reading book(s) to class at the start of the fall semester and should bring their winter reading work to class at the start of the spring semester.
6. All students will be evaluated on their book(s) during the first two weeks of the fall and spring semesters.
7. The English department at Salem Academy does not allow the use of literary supplements such as Cliff's Notes, Pink Monkey, Spark Notes, Shmoop, and so forth. These supplements are not permitted for any outside reading texts or for classroom texts read during the year in any English class, and use of these materials is a violation of the Salem Academy Honor Code.
8. No outside sources of any type are permitted for outside reading evaluations. Online book reviews, critical essays, or any other material written by someone else about your book choice gives you an unfair advantage over others, and use of these materials is a violation of the Salem Academy Honor Code.

English I and Honors English I
